

PROMOTION LITIGATION SERVICES

LAWYER LED . . . SOLUTIONS DRIVEN

The trial technology revolution is here and attorneys who embrace its potential will excel. Thanks to the CSI effect jurors have come to expect that justice will be swift, decisive and visually compelling and judges appreciate the efficiency and clarity of technology-assisted trials.

At ProMotion Litigation Services we help you make your case in a clear, compelling, and memorable fashion. Our digital courtroom technology allows you to quickly access your key evidence and display it for everyone in the courtroom, or if necessary, just for the judge.

We work closely with you before, during, and after trial to define the optimum solution for presenting your evidence in the most compelling fashion. We can scan, inventory, and bar code your evidence – digitize photos, audio and video; develop illustrated timelines; create graphics and computer animations – and then merge everything into a database of easy-to-access files for your trial.

Because we know you need to concentrate on your case – and not the technology behind it – we provide you with a certified trial technologist to operate the system and deliver your case at trial. Make us part of your winning team.

A THOUSAND WORDS

ProMotion Litigation Services was founded to address the opportunities being created by the rapid technological advances occurring in the practice of law. Steve Crandall, J.D., is the president and founder of ProMotion Litigation Services based in Seattle, Washington. Mr. Crandall is an attorney, an entrepreneur and an expert in digital media. He has successfully built and led the development of a number of startup businesses.

After serving as corporate counsel for Frank Russell Company, Mr. Crandall's passion for technology led him into the international consulting practice where he evaluated technical investment strategies being developed for some of the world's largest investors. Subsequently, he served as chief investment strategist for Chase Manhattan Futures, developing technology-driven trading strategies for the institutional market. While at Chase, he used evolving multimedia capabilities to deliver complex concepts to his audiences.

Mr. Crandall is a regular speaker at continuing legal education (CLE) seminars and teaches video production at the Art Institute of Seattle. He is an award-winning producer. In addition to degrees in law and psychology, he also holds a degree in video production, is a Certified Legal Video Specialist, a Certified Visionary Trial Technician, a Trial Director Certified Trainer, a LiveNote Certified Multimedia Expert, a Certified Visionary Production Specialist and a member of the Washington State Bar Association. In 2006, Mr. Crandall was named the Greater Seattle Business Association Business Man of the Year.

We are passionate about helping our clients win!

Video Depositions

The video deposition has become a key element in the successful attorney's zealous and competent representation of a client. As a Certified Legal Video Specialist we ensure that all video depositions adhere to NCRA standards and are of the highest quality.

Internet Streaming Depositions

Combined with Realtime reporting, we can stream your deposition to a secure web site so offsite parties can participate in the deposition remotely. Attorneys in other parts of the country, or even just down the hall, can see and hear the deponent, read the transcript and send secure instant messages to co-counsel in the room.

Synched and Linked DVDs

We can synchronize your transcript to the deposition video and even link exhibits to display as they are referenced. Our synched DVDs make your deposition video text searchable. You can quickly search the transcript, build outlines of key testimony and export individual clips for use in trial technology software or PowerPoint presentations.

Day-in-the-Life Videos

A "Day-in-the-Life" video can be your most compelling piece of evidence in establishing the impact of life changing injuries on your client. From sunrise to sunset we document the pain and suffering experienced in completing every day tasks and the significant professional and personal assistance required.

Video Settlement Documentaries

The Video Settlement Documentary (VSD) provides a moving and highly effective means of presenting your case in a mediation or arbitration. Produced in a persuasive documentary style the VSD enables decision-makers to see the compelling nature of the case and reevaluate settlement offers and positions

Accident Reconstructions and Site Surveys

Site surveys can be essential in documenting conditions before they change and where case logistics make it impossible to visit the scene. Accident reconstructions can significantly improve understanding of complex causal relationships.

Construction Surveys

Videotaping surrounding structures, preexisting conditions, and sight lines around construction projects can be an effective deterrent against illusory claims.

Video Wills

Videotaping the execution of the will and having the testator read the will and explain the property distribution can be an invaluable tool in responding to and even eliminating subsequent challenges. The video can provide irrefutable proof that the person making the will was mentally competent and observed the formalities of execution.

Video Inventories

Whether its a routine marital dissolution, a business restructuring, or a complex corporate valuation, video inventories can be a powerful tool in establishing functional value and providing a comprehensive property record.

Education & Training Videos

Delivering your important education and training curriculum on video can be a cost effective and efficient solution. Management personnel and training professionals can be freed up to handle other important tasks.

Human Resources & Compliance Videos

Videotaping your new employee orientations and procedural reviews ensures that the same consistent message is delivered to all employees; reducing your risk and providing a solid record of the content delivered.

Trial Technology

We offer a wide range of courtroom playback, technology services, and evidentiary and trial strategy assistance. From standard video systems to sophisticated setups with live editing capabilities, we help you to make your case.

Duplication, Format Conversion and Forensic Analysis

We provide video and audio duplication and format conversion for the following formats: audio cassettes, VHS, S-VHS, CD-ROM, DVD, mini-DV, DVCAM, and BetaSP. We are skilled at audio/video forensic analysis, noise reduction, and restoration.
